ETERNITY.

FROM THE GERMAN.

At the North star away, rolls a great sea of eye—
Unseen by mortal eye—
Row on, row on, land
In towers, maps, life stands—
Guarding this silent sea,
Grimly—invincibly—
Never there man liveth here,
Who hath come back again,
Telling to ears of men—
What is this sea within,
Under the holy sky?
Drowning death's bright sunlight—
And death's never secure—
Throbbing continually there it hath been.

Fleets on, life far away,
With the dark waves for eye
Of streams—
Silent—awfully—
Round it on exultant land—
Death's no birds stand—
Guarding thus silent sea—
Grimly—invincibly—
Never there man liveth here,
Who could tell mortal kin,
Within the sea

Terrible is our life—
In its whole, blood-writhen history,
Only a victim's strife—
In its bugling a martyr—
In its dark treading, agony.

Terrible is our death—
Black hanging cloud o'er life's setting sun—
Darkness of night which a daylights gone—
In the gloom of the close of day—
Loudly that tolls the bell,
And within that sinking strand—
Rolls the ever throbbing sea,

And we will weep—
An old-time wailer,
And howling sinner,
Into the unknown sea,
Lone lonely.

SUMMER FRIENDS.

Let your summer friends go by
With the summer weather;
Hearts that are, will not die,
Though the storm should gather.

Summer love to fortune clings;
From the which it will fit,
Like the lot which spreads its wings
When the honey-fulth.

Rich the soul where weeds appear;
Let the false blossom perish;
Flowers there no more last, and dear,
Than you still may cherish.

Flowers of spring pure and warm,
Hearts that cannot wither;

Thee for such shall bide the storm,
As the sunny we other

UNCLE JOE IN COURT.

BY COLONEL DUNLAP.

FROM THE GERMAN.

Joe Bassett was a queer genius—Uncle Joe everybody called him—and, though possessing but very few of the goods of this world, yet he was one of the most useful men in town. If any one wanted an odd job done, he was the man to do it. In short, he was a sort of universal "Mac Friday," and for a consideration he would perform any kind of work which might be called for. He was a happy old fellow, as full of fun as an egg is full of meat, and he would crack some very hard jokes without hurting anybody. He owned a little hut over back of the village, to which was attached a few acres of good land; and besides this he had a cow and some other items of stock. He lived quite comfortable, and the impression had gone abroad that he had managed to lay up some money.

Captain Daniel Lober had recently settled in the town, owned a fine piece of land adjoining Uncle Joe's lot, and he was not long in making himself very disagreeable to our good man Friday. He was a proud, selfish person, and a little mean within—Uncle Joe had some geese, and they ran upon Lober's land, upon which the indignant captain threatened to shoot them if he caught them there again.

"Ef ye'd make yer fence tighter, my geese wouldn't get through," weakly suggested poor Joe.

"My fence is as tight as the law requires," answered the doughty captain; and with this he walked away.

So Uncle Joe had to go to work and tighten the fence, and put larger yokes upon his geese.

"You own a horse?"

"Why?"

"We want none of your whys! You own a horse?"

"But I want to explain. Cap'n Lober, he come to me, a bilin' over with wrath, and axed me did I own a horse, and I told him yes. Then he biiled over, made lots o' threats, and went off in a heat o' passion afore I could 'plain."

"But do ye deny that your horse was in my client's field?"

"It couldn't be that unless somebody put it that."

"That's not the thing. Do you deny that your horse did this damage?"

"Sartin, I do."

"Your's is a white horse?"

"Rayther a yellowish cast, Squire."

"And poor and old?"

"A leeth shakey, I think."

"Then how do you know that it was not your horse that did this damage?"

"That's jest the p'nt I want to 'plain," Squire," answered Uncle Joe, very earnestly, and with imperious gravity. "Ef anybody had axed me this afore I come up, one afternoon he came to see his wheat, and when he reached the edge of the field, he stood aghast at the sight which met his gaze. The tall, stout grain was trodden and trampled down over half of the lot, presenting a scene of havoc and destruction truly horrible to behold. And the astonished owner was at no loss to account for the desolation, for in the centre of the lot he saw a horse. It was a gaunt, heavily built animal, of a dingy white color; and though evidently well stricken with years, yet he frisked and capered about with marvellous spirit, now cropping a few of the well filled wheat heads, and anon tramping away upon the devoted grain, as though he was in the wine vat.

I should not dare to tell all the oaths that Capisio Lober there and then poured forth; but they were terrible ones, and the white foam stood upon his lips. As soon as he could collect his thoughts he started for Uncle Joe's. He knew that Joe must have seen the horse in there—for the animal could not have been less than three or four days at the work—and perhaps the perpetrator might belong to Joe. Just as the captain reached the road he met Sam Warner. Sam was not a temperance man, nor did he belong to the church, but he was a particular friend of Uncle Joe, and didn't think much of Daniel Lober.

"Mr. Warner," cried the captain, trembling all over with rage, "does Joe Bassett own a horse?"

"Yes. B'lieve he does, Squire," roared Sam.

"Is it a white one?"

"Kind o' whitish."

"How old is it?"

"Wal, taunt very old nor very young.

But it's kind o' shaky round the knees."

Captain Lober posted off to Uncle Joe's, and found the old fellow at work about the premises.

"Mr. Bassett," he said, with an awful meaning, "do you own a horse?"

"Wal, I rather calculate as how I do, Squire," answered the old fellow.

"And did you know that your horse has destroyed more than half of my wheat?"

"Jer-eval! You don't say so, Squire!" exclaimed Joe, in terror.

"It is a fact, sir; and now you may settle it, or suffer the consequences."

"But, Squire—really—I can't believe it. My horse is such a quiet critter."

"Are you willing to settle it?" cried the captain, madly.

"But—Squire—really—I couldn't pay ye nothu—sarin' I couldn't."

"Then you'll pay somebody else. You know that your horse was in my field!"

"I couldn't swar' at be hadn't, that's a fact."

"That's enough."

And with this the captain went off. He went to one of the assessors, from whom he learned that Joe owned some two or three hundred dollars worth of property; and then he went to a lawyer and had Joe sued, setting the damage at one hundred dollars. The lawyer sent Joe a letter, but the old fellow refused to take any notice of it, and the case was carried into court, Captain Lober having sworn that he would push Uncle Joe to the last extremity.

The court was in session, and the day for the trial arrived. The room was crowded, for a whisper had gone abroad that Uncle Joe would get the best of it. Finally the case was called on, and Lober's counsel made a statement of the cause which had led to the suit, enlarging upon the damage which had been done to his client's property, and how little the trespasser had seemed to care for it.

"What is the defense?"

Nobody seemed to know.

"Is the defendant in court?"

All eyes turned upon Uncle Joe, and he arose.

"Are you the defendant of this case?"

"Me?" returned Joe, with a vacant stare.

"Yes, you."

"He is, your honor," said Lober's lawyer.

"Have you got counsel, sir?" the Judge resumed.

"Not's I knows on," replied Joe, with a half foolish, half wicked look.

"You are probably aware of the reason why you've been called here?" pursued the Court, seeming to pity the man's foolishness.

"I's pose it' for some kind of complaint Cap'n Lober's been a makin'."

"Exactly," said Lober's counsel. "Your horse has destroyed much property belonging to me."

"I'spose it' for every letter you find in box 124."

"First-rate," said Joseph; "but," he added, glancing down upon himself, as if his clothes were a drawback to promotion.

"Oh, your coat will do

NOTICE.

THE MODEL SEWING MACHINE.

(From the New York Herald.)

Prominent among the mechanical triumphs of this most ingenious age, common honesty compels us to notice the Empire Sewing Machine, commanded as justly styled perfect itself. Useful as have been the various sewing machines, from time to time presented to the public, each one of them has been cursed with some radical defect, which detracts from general utility. Warned by the experience of his predecessors, the inventor of the Empire Machine has produced an instrument, combining all the advantages for which others are vaunted, and obviating every defect which can be attributed to them by the most fastidious critic.

The Empire Machine is a marvelous combination of simplicity, economy and perfect workmanship, a durable, free from liability to get out of order, noiseless, and easy of operation. Its mechanical contrivances is such as to secure stability, freedom from accident, and accuracy as to workmanship. By the use of the patented shuttle and straight needle, it makes a stitch, which can neither rip nor ravel, while, at the same time, it can operate perfectly upon every species of material from leather to cambric, with threads of cotton, linen or silk, from the finest to the coarsest number.

As the Empire Machine is gradually supplanting its more antique rivals, no one in want of a useful instrument of this description, be he or she tailor, couchmaker, dressmaker or seamstress, can do otherwise than secure one of these economical and fitfulmable machines, suited alike for family and manufacturing purposes. The office of the Empire Manufacturing Co. is at No. 536 Broadway, New York City, where they are now supplying these Empire Machines at prices far below the real value of the instruments.—N. Y. ## SPECTACULAR NOTICES.

NEW PHYSIOMYOMY, or "Signs of Character," as manifested through Temperament and External Forms, and especially in the "Human face divine." One elegant volume, with nearly 800 pages, and 1,000 illustrations. By S. B. WELLS, Editor Phrenological Journal. Price, post paid, $5. Address FOWLER & WELLS, No. 339 Broadway, New York.

"New Physiognomy" is entirely practical, fully illustrated, and well suited to the wants of all. In the study of "the face" the reader soon learns to read each and every feature.—Noses are classified as the Roman, Greek, Jewish, Subt and Celestial. The eyes speak all languages; whether black, blue, brown or hazel. In like manner, cheeks, neck, ears, hands, feet, walk, voice, laugh, etc., are shown to be "the signs of character."

In no other work is so much light thrown upon the character & destiny of mankind as in this, or the distinctive traits of nations and tribes so clearly pointed out. Portraits of distinguished persons of ancient and modern times, with geographical sketches and delineation of character, are given. Divines, Orators, Statesmen, Warriors, Artists, Poets, Philosophers, Inventors, Surgeons, Discoverers, Actors, Musicians, etc., are included. It is an "Encyclopaedia" of biography, acquainting the reader with the career and character of many great men and women of the past 1,000 years, and of the present—such, for instance, as Aristotle, Julius Caesar, Adam Winard, Joseph Snyder and Jessie Cook, containing 120 ACRES, more or less, about 20 Acres of which are Woods. The improvements are a large two-story.

BRICK HOUSE, with a Kitchen attached, Log Barn, Waggon-Shed, Corn-Crib, and other Out-buildings. The Farm has been well lined, and is in a good state of cultivation; is well watered, having water in nearly every field; a well at the house, and a cistern; and a well at the Barn. There is a large variety of all kinds of excellent fruit.

Attendance given, and terms made known on day of sale.

VALUABLE LAND FOR SALE.

ON FRIDAY, the 2nd of SEPTEMBER, 1866, the undersigned, Assignee in trust for Creditors of Dr. SAMUEL E. HALL, will sell at Public Vendue, on the premises, A FARM, containing 12 ACRES, more or less, situate one half a mile west of Gettysburg, and being part of the Battell's Field of July 1st, 1863. There are about 25 Acres in Heavy Oak Timber, and equal areas in Orchard Meadow, which may be increased to a much larger extent. About 10 Acres have been lined, and most of the fence is re-built since the battle. There is a first-rate Spring at the House, the water from which is conveyed by pipes into the Stock Yard. The improvements are a one and a half story DWELLING HOUSE, Log Barn and other out-buildings, with a valuable Orchard of choice fruit. The land lies hand-some, and is conveniently located. It adjoins the Farm on which the celebrated Little Spring has been discovered and is supposed to contain water of the same kind.

The sale will be positive, and persons wishing to buy a residence or on speculation, should well do so. Those wishing to see the property can call on Dr. SAMUEL E. HALL, residing thereon.

Sale to commence at 1 o'clock, P. M., when terms will be made known by ROBERT G. MCCREARY, Trustee.

Shrewsbury Camp Meeting.
CAMP GROUND, RAYMOND'S GROVE,
August 29th, 1866.

A most fervid religious scene occurred last night upon this camp ground. After the powerful sermon on sanctification by Rev. Alfred Cookman, it was determined to hold a conversational meeting upon that subject, in the preachers' tent, at an hour when the other meetings had closed for the night. The preachers accordingly, numbering some twenty five or thirty, assembled and after some time spent in discussing the subject, they kneeled in prayer. Before the meeting closed eighteen of the number testified to the truthfulness that the religion of Christ not only justified but sanctified the true believer. At about 12 o'clock at night the preachers formed, and with Marshal Samuel Kramer at the head, marched around the circle, singing as they started the favorite chorus beginning, "I will sprinkle thee with water." The meeting was kept up until an early hour in the morning.

LEAVENWORTH, KANSAS, August 28.—A fight has taken place near Fort Reno, where the Indians drove off 78 head of Government mules from Colonel Cartington's camp. They were followed by mounted men. The Indians turned upon the pursuing party, killing seven and wounding two, and escaped with all their stock. A party of officers and recruits going to the 18th United States Infantry were attacked at Powder River, and two men were killed in the attack. The Indians did not succeed in stampeding the stock. They have attacked several trains since that time, and killed four men and wounded many more. The redskins are all around Fort Reno, firing on the pickets the whole night.

The Indians held the whole country, except the military camps. The Sioux stole a herd of horses within one mile of the fort, and a lot of Government mules. Troops were sent in pursuit, but could not overtake them. On the 5th of August they stole another herd of horses four miles east of Reno. There is evidently a general outbreak among all the tribes on the plains, and the attacks made upon the frontier settlements of Kansas cause great consternation, as there are no troops here. Six hundred Indians made their appearance near the southern line of Utah Territory, on the Holiday Stage Line, creating great panic among the settlers in that vicinity. The Denver News has the following: "The Indians have returned to the vicinity of Fort Garland, New Mexico, and are now engaged in the indiscriminate massacre of all the Mexican inhabitants they meet."

A BARONETCY IN COURT.—A curious suit, known as the Slade baronetcy case, is soon to be tried in England. Lady Slade, at the time of her marriage with the late Sir Frederick Slade, Q. C., supposed herself to be a widow, her former husband having deserted her, and a report was circulated that he was dead. After the birth of Sir Frederick's first born the first husband was heard of, but there was no absolute certainty whether he was alive or dead. Accordingly, before the second child was born, in order that there might be no doubt about his legitimacy, the parents were married again. The same ceremony was repeated before the birth of each child in succession, and as there are seven of them, each claims the title and estates. Witnesses are summoned from various parts of the world.

THE NEW YORK CORRUPTION FUND.—The New York Herald boasts that the merchants of that city have raised one hundred thousand dollars to influence the elections this fall, and says the amount could be increased to half a million. The merchants undoubtedly belong to the same class who subscribed liberally to procure the election of the anti war candidate, General McClellan, for the Presidency—with what success the returns of votes in 1864 indicated. The people of the country can no longer be purchased by the Belmonts, and the agents of other foreign banking houses in New York, than they could be two years ago. The masses of the community have too much at stake in the continuance of peace and good order to sustain a party which threatens another civil war if it is defeated at the polls.

TERRIBLE TRAGEDY IN VIRGINIA.—A dispatch from Fredericksburg, Va., to the Richmond Dispatch, dated the 26th inst., says:

The house of Gustavus W. Limerick, about three miles from this town, was burned last night, and upon examination by the neighbors they found the burned remains of Mrs. Limerick in the ruins of the building. She had been evidently murdered. After further search the murdered body of Mr. Limerick, horribly mangled, was found a quarter of a mile from the house. Money was no doubt the object of the murderers. No clue to the perpetrators of the bloody deed has been discovered.

The murdered parties had no children, and were about 70 years of age. There is much excitement in the community. Such murders are so uncommon in this State, and taken in connection with another recent murder and some signs of lawlessness in this region of country, there is naturally a feeling of anxiety and disturbance of the public mind.

Major General T. H. Wood, commanding the Department of the Mississippi, issued an order on the 19th inst., stating that, as complaints were growing numerous of planters driving freedmen off their farms as soon as the crops are in, without giving them their just remuneration or share of the crop, he notifies all persons that such conduct will not be permitted, and that where it occurs a military force will be stationed.

TRENTON, August 20.—Governor Ward has issued a proclamation convening the Legislature of New Jersey, at Trenton, on Monday, September 10th, for the purpose of ratifying the Constitutional amendment and filling the existing Senatorial vacancy.

Gov. Curtin has signed the death warrant for the execution of Richard Thirwall, convicted of the murder of Houseman in Fayette county, some time ago. His execution will take place on Monday, the first day of October next. In this case will be noticed that for the first time the custom of hanging men on Friday, popularly known as "hangman's day," has been disregarded.

Dr. JAMES CRESS, Gettysburg.

ONLY LOYAL MEN SHALL RULE!

Equal Representation in Congress!

NO REBEL RAIDS ON THE NATIONAL TREASURY!

HON. WM. H. KOONTZ,

The Union Candidate for Congress, will speak at the following times and places:

GETTYSBURG, Monday, September 10th.

BENDERSVILLE Tuesday, " 11th.

PETERSBURG, Wednesday, " 12th.

FAIRFIELD, Thursday, " 13th.

MORITZ'S TAVERNS, Friday, " 14th.

LITTLESTOWN, Saturday, " 15th.

The meetings will commence at 7 o'clock in the Evening.

The people are cordially invited to come, without respect to party, and hear this equal champion of F.R.E.P. PRINCIPLES!

By order of the Union County Committee,

EDWARD MCPHERSON, Chairman.

AN APPRENTICE

To learn the Printing business, will be taken at this Office—a youth of moral and industrious habits—having a good English education.

HON. WM. H. KOONTZ, our candidate for Congress, will be in Adams county from the 10th to the 15th, and address the people at different points on the important issues of the day. Read the appointments in another column, and be ready to give him a warm and enthusiastic reception. Our friends at the several places where meetings have been called should see that there is a full turn out. Go to work.

FINE PEACHES.

Mr. Monfort, residing near town, presented us on Saturday evening with several most splendid peaches. One of them measured 8 inches in circumference. Mr. M. thinks it is of the Geary species. He has our thanks.

A WOMAN OF THE JEWISH DENOMINATION

preached a sermon on the "Ingathering of Israel" on Sunday afternoon, before the Court-house, to a large audience of our citizens. She spoke with considerable warmth, being well posted in Scripture, and held the crowd with her interesting discourse.

MARK'S CHURCH.

Mark's church (German Reformed) in Mt. Joy township, having undergone alterations and repairs, will be re-opened for worship on Sunday next, at 10 o'clock, A. M. Exercises appropriate to the occasion will be had.

This church is among the oldest yet standing in the County, having been erected in 1798. The preacher in charge at that time was Rev. George Troldenier—and the following are the names signed to the original constitution—John Taynew, Samuel Fry, David Little, Geo. Heagy, Nicholas Marks, John Mayer, Francis Stalsmith, Michael Hoke, Peter Moritz, Daniel Heck, Andrew Little, Philip Schantz, Geo. Fehl, Andrew Eschbach, Michael Moritz, Joe. Heagy, Samuel Huf, John Troxel, Jacob Klein, Jacob Baumgartner, Jacob Wirth, Adam Taynew, John Miller, John Rohrbach, Michael Frey, Justus Frotsnau, Henry Fouer, Jacob Troxel. The first child baptized was Samuel Bernheisel, Nov. 5th, 1798.

The re-opening services will be of a peculiarly interesting character, and will have reference, to some extent, to the earthly building of the edifice. A large concourse of people will no doubt be attracted.

PIC-NICS.

The German Pic-Nic announced on Wednesday at Wolf's Spring, was, on account of the rain on that day, postponed until Thursday, when it came off—and a grand success it was.

Our German friends of Town and neighborhood were nearly or quite all there, whilst a large number of "outsiders" also attended.—Visiting the ground in the afternoon, we found enjoyment reigning everywhere. A fine band of music and a good dancing floor had been secured, and this combination became, of course, the centre of attraction. Other amusements were had—besides an interesting game of base ball in the field adjoining. The Germans "can't beat" in getting up pleasure-occasions, and their success on Thursday will, doubtless, lead to many of a similar character hereafter. The Gettysburg Band under Prof. Gendum, was a delightful feature of the Pic-Nic.

A GRAND BASKET PIC-NIC

held at Marsh Creek, near Breck's Mill, on last Saturday. Persons from almost every portion of the County were represented, augmenting the crowd to a larger number than that of any Pic-Nic of the season. Dancing was the chief source of amusement and was very generally indulged in.

Since the 15th of May eleven counterfeiter have been arrested in New Hampshire and Maine, all of whom are either in jail or under bonds to appear for trial in September and October. This is believed to comprise the whole gang of principals in the two States. Some of the accessories are at large.

An immense brickyard, 800 feet long and about 400 wide, is about to be established at Chicago, Illinois. It will contain machines for the manufacture of 300,000 brick a day. A canal 2,000 feet long, 200 wide and 20 deep, will connect the yard with the south branch of the river

The earth thrown up in making the exca-tion will be used in the manufacture of bricks.

COMMUNICATED. IMPORTANT DISCOVERIES AT THE MINERAL SPRINGS.

It is said that new discoveries of mineral water have been made on the McClean farm which are calculated to vastly increase the value and importance of those which have already been brought to the attention of the country.

It is stated that the mineral water which has so suddenly acquired a natural reputation for its curative virtues, has been found to have four sources of supply instead of one, as has hitherto been supposed. These new Springs have been discovered above the old one, all within a distance of less than a hundred feet from it, one even within a distance of ten feet from the parent source. It is believed that many more vents in what appears to be the roof of this vast reservoir of mineral water exist below these, concealed by the deposits from them. These discoveries establish beyond a doubt the vast commercial value of this medicinal water.

It is believed that a hundred, perhaps, two hundred barrels of this invaluable medicine may be collected for the domestic and foreign markets.

I learn that another effort is about to be made by the Gettysburg Springs Company, as well as by the proprietor, in favor of a National Watering place here as well as a bottling establishment.

As the success of the enterprise will increase the value of land of all other property, and business here, they will have the hearty cooperation and sympathy of this entire community.

Stealing.

A German named Jacob Mayer, living near the Wolf Hill, was, on Saturday evening last, arrested by officer Rouser, on suspicion of having stolen a load of shingles from James H. Marshall, Esq., in Carroll's Tract. The shingles were not only found in his possession, but also a variety of other articles supposed to have been stolen—bags of oats, leather, bridles, saddles, spurs, locks, machine, &c.

We are informed that several of these articles have since been identified by persons from whom they were stolen. Mayer is in jail.

Base Ball.

The Gettysburg Base Ball Club re-organized last week by electing T. D. Carson, President; W. B. Easter, Secretary; J. Harvey White, Treasurer, and T. G. Norris, John M. Krauth, and Wm. H. Wysotsky, Directors.

On Friday afternoon week, a game of base ball was played between the Petersburg Club of York Springs and the New Oxford Club. The game was played at New Oxford, and lasted three hours. The New Oxford Club's count was 41 and that of Petersburg 18. The game is to be played over at Petersburg soon.

Stealing.

The Mass Meeting of the friends of Maj. Gen. GEARY in Berks and the surrounding Counties, held in Reading on Wednesday, the 25th ult., was the largest, most enthusiastic and imposing political assemblage ever convened in Eastern Pennsylvania. There never was so great a crowd of people in Reading before on any occasion, political or otherwise; and in an experience of over twenty-five years, running back to the times of 1840 and 1844, there never was a larger political meeting in any part of the State. There MURKIN IN A PRISON.—There was a mutiny at Sing Sing prison, on Monday, of quite a serious character, thirty men in arms attacking the keepers and making desperate efforts to escape. One of the convicts was killed and five wounded—one escaping. The others when captured were speedily locked up, and the whole affair quelled within half an hour of its outbreak. There is considerable excitement in the town of Sing Sing, N. Y., and the feeling of insecurity is general.

On the 12th of September, a grand Republican rally is to take place at Erie, as a fit commencement of the campaign—Earnest efforts are being made to render the occasion one of fitting importance to draw out a crowd such as that city has never before seen. The list of speakers upon the occasion is large, and comprises some of the best oratorical talent of the State, together with those from abroad who have earned an enviable reputation as soldiers and statesmen.

Several burglars recently entered a room in the Gaines House, at Dubuque, Iowa, where four young ladies were sleeping, administered chloroform to them, and were on the point of robbing them, when one of them began to return to consciousness. One of the burglars drew a pistol and held it to her head, but by this time one of the other young ladies had awakened from her stupor and made an outcry—At this the villains fled, taking nothing valuable with them.

By Friday's cable despatch from Europe we learn that the ratification of the Treaty of Peace had been exchanged, and its provisions would at once be put in force. The natural effect of the Philadelphia Convention in London was to cause a material advance in the price of the Rebel bonds, the holders, doubtless, having some vain hope that the "reconstructed South" will get the general government to ratify the debt. The British Government was still troubled about the Fugitives, and preparing to send additional troops to Canada. Consuls were quoted at $92 for money. United States Five Twenties had further advanced to 73½.

European advices by the cable state that a treaty of peace between the contending Powers of Prussia, Italy, Austria and Bavaria was concluded by the plenipotentiaries in the session at Prague on Thursday last. The treaty was officially signed by the plenipotentiaries on behalf of their respective Governments on the same day.—Before the treaty of peace between Austria, Prussia, Italy and Bavaria was signed Austria freely and unreservedly ceded Venetia to Victor Emmanuel. The Emperor Francis Joseph has determined to strengthen his empire by granting a new constitution and ministry to Hungary. It is announced officially, that a new ministry will soon be formed for Hungary, upon the basis of the constitution granted the Magyars in 1848, the revocation of which was the cause of the Hungarian revolution in 1848 and 1849. A Paris despatch states that the Empress Carlotta will not return to Mexico and it is conceded on all hands that the result of the peace is likely to be a truce between the two countries.
